

FAVE FINDS Tracy's hand-picked collection of Arne Bang pottery lines the mantel in her apartment.

Tracy, her two sisters, and mother decided-after years of calling one another to ask about family recipes-that it was time to write them down. The resulting book (out in October) is a collection of more than 100 favorite dishes with practical tips for stress-free dinners.

FAMILY MEALS AT HOME ARE "A priority. If you have a regular dinner, you keep your family close. That's when you hear all the great stories.'

FAVORITE FRIDAY NIGHT MENU "I love making fish for dinner after a busy week. It's so fast to cook. One of my go-to dishes is halibut with a chimichurri sauce—the whole thing takes less than an hour to prepare, and it looks really elegant."

TRACY POLLAN

Actress and cookbook author, in her Manhattan
breakfast room

A FAMILY THING "My mom (Corky Pollan) was the style director of Gourmet magazine and is a food blogger. She taught me how to cook. She would show me how to do it and then just let me go. It was a real confidence-booster. I also remember my brother (author Michael Pollan) always in the kitchen. Now my son loves to cook, too."

MY STYLE "Pretty casual. I love to mix and matchold with new-both with my clothes and in my house."

WHEN I'M NOT COOKING "I love going to nice restaurants. But I also love street food, and I'm known for spotting a dive-y Mexican restaurant from a mile away! Also, I can't pass up a fresh lobster roll."

What's old is new again-Tracy uses her grandmother's demitasse spoons as condiment servers.

FAMILY TIES
Tracy's husband, actor Michael J. Fox, surprised her with a good-luck charm necklace for Mother's Day.

> IN GOOD TASTE "My favorite ingredients are olive oil, a good sea salt, and fresh herbs to perk up any dish."